A fitter and turner by trade who has held senior management positions in one of Australia's largest labour hire companies.

Pat has particular expertise in modern and effective process-based management systems.

Pat is a confident and approachable trainer who ensures each participant fully understands all aspects of any training he delivers.

Training experience

Pat delivers the management systems lead auditing courses for Quality, OH&S, Environmental, and Integrated Management Systems.

Pat has a Masters Degree in Education and also is an experienced trainer in human resources and customer service.

Auditing experience

Pat continues to audit some of the worlds largest organisations as well as small – medium enterprises. His industry experience includes high rise construction, manufacturing, government and utilities.

It is rare to find a trainer with extensive practical and current industry knowledge of the topic. This is a real world training course for real world application. 100% recommend Pat to conduct any training in future.

— Nicholas Morris

Pat was knowledgeable and conveyed the course material at a level that could be understood by all in attendance even with the varying levels of exposure to the subjects of the course. Pat was also more than willing to answer questions or further elaborate on any areas that weren't fully understood by all and didn't just rush to the next learning topic.

— Darren Donnelly

Pat was very professional and ensued the learning experience for my team was at the level we needed. Very knowledgeable and adaptive to our specific needs given our current requirements and concerns.

— Bradley Robb
